Practicing Oral History Theory, Method and Archiving Oral History

2 Days Workshop on

Date 18. 05. 2023 and 19. 05.2023

Venue: Conference hall,
School of Management Studies
Union Christian College Aluva

The workshop on "Practicing Oral History" aims to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of the theory, methodology, and archiving techniques involved in conducting and preserving oral history interviews. Oral history is an invaluable tool for capturing personal narratives, preserving marginalized voices, and enriching historical records. This workshop will equip participants with the necessary skills and knowledge to undertake oral history projects effectively and ethically.

Objectives

- ▶ To introduce participants to the theoretical foundations of oral history and its significance in documenting lived experiences.
- ▶ To familiarize participants with the practical aspects of conducting oral history interviews, including interview techniques, ethics, and consent.
- ▶ To provide participants with guidance on processing, transcribing, and archiving oral history materials.
- ▶ To promote the critical understanding of oral history's role in historical research, community engagement, and social advocacy.
